Dr Fisher caused a violent controversy here recently when it was disclosed that he told the Royal Commission on Marriage and Divorce: "It is the law which has made a single act of adultery a ground for divorce, not the church.

"The church would wholly approve if the law was no longer content to accept a single cet of adultery as sufficient

Red Hierarchy Review Troops In Hanci MAMMOTH PARADE

Hanoi, Jan. 2. (Delayed in transmission). New Year's Day, celebrated here with a mammoth parade of 300,000 persons before a reviewing stand of Vietminh leaders arrayed in hierarchical order; furnished concrete evidence that Hanoi has become a Communist city.

The five hours long parade, in which troops of the Vietnam People's Army filed past President Ho Chi Minh, Foreign Minister Pham Van Dong, Defence Minister Vo Nguyen Giap and other dignitaries, presented a striking parallel with scenes in Moscow, Peking or East Berlin on any holiday in the Marxist calendar.

The march past included stiffly; Standing in a complete erect members of the Victminh Elite Guard wearing for the first time the flat-topped Chinese style cap, soldiers marching in goose-step with elbows held close in to the body and holding their rifles or submachine guns pointed forward, and tens of thousands of "Little Ploneers."

SOCIAL VIGILANCE

The future hope of the Victminh, carrying bouquets and small flags, old peasant women singled out by village committees for "social vigilance" in tax collection, and behind a gigantic portrait of French Communis; Henri Martin, proclaimed over loudspeakers as a thero of the French resistance", and members of the Youth Vanguard were all in the procession.

dont with his small goatee beard, in a wrinkled khaki tunic, stepped on to the reviewing stand and hailed the crowd with an awkward salute to his old tropical helmet.

The crowd wildly acclaimed Ho Chi Minh, shouting "a thousand years for President Ho."

PEACE THEME

Ho Chi Minh wished the crowd a happy new year,, called for vigilance and closed his address by declaring, "Long live peace!" The peace theme dominated the whole ceremony, the military parado taking place under the serie of Picasso's doves of peace.

The Victories in the Indo-China war were also highlighted, especially when the loudspeakers heralded the arrival of soldiers of the People's cold Tonking morning for a Army with the announcement parade which did not get "Here are the victors of Dien underway until 10 o'clock. Not Enough Voluntary Funds From United Nations Members

Washington, Jan. 2.

A report compiled by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff today declared that some of the United Nations voluntary aid programmes were in danger of collapsing through lack of funds.

It said that only 14 of the United Nations 60 member states had pledged contributions up to September 15, 1954, to each of the four voluntary programmes for the current year and described the response to the Korean Reconstruction Agency as "especially disappointing."

In a foreword to the report, Senator Alexander Wiley, the Committee Chairman, said that other nations had "lagged" in their contributions even though the United States had given as much as 70 per cent to the International Children's Fund, the Technical Assistance Programme, the Agency for Palestine Refugees and the Korean Agency.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Violent Bidding Is Expected Here

By OSWALD JACOBY

THE bidding of today's hand was a bit violent, but this must be expected when a player holds a nine-card suit. As a matter of fact, East was quite restrained when he decided to let the vulnerable expenents play the hand at five diamonds.

However, he had already shown the nature of his hand, and it was up to West to decide whether to merifice or try to defeat five diamonds. It was no cinch to beat five diamonds. Just put yourself in the West seat and see if you west'd come to the right conclusion if you couldn't see all of the cords.

When the hand was actually played, Lester Glucksman, wellknown New York expert, opened the king of hearts from the West hand. South won with the ace of hearts, led a diamond to dummy's ace, took the king of dicmonds, and then gave up a I'mond trick to West.

The average player would know that it was dangerous to lend away from either black king since South surely had both the ace of clubs and the queen of spades for his open-

They have either tried to do this in a double boiler, which is an unsatisfactory method, or else they think they must use a regulation steamer and don't own

To Steam Puddings: In a good-sized kettle, put several folds of newspaper. Set the filled pudding mould on this to raise it from the bottom. Pour in boiling water to 2/3 the depth of the mould. Cover closely. Bring to boiling point and boil slowly and steadily for the designated time.

A pressure - cooker (covered, but with no pressure on) is also an efficient utensil to use in steaming puddings.

THE CHINESE LINE-UP THE INTELLIGENCE

Says I. M. MacTAVISH

Seldom if ever has a greater injustice been created against the fair name of Charity than the circumstances that produced the crushing defeat of the Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation XI in the Governor's Cup match at Caroline Hill yesterday.

The line-up as it took the field was an insult to the intelligence of the faithful and long-suffering spectators who were enticed to the arena by the promise of an even match and a chance of seeing their "big name" favourites in action.

Some were obviously dispirited and disgusted with the whole affair, and as time went the hardest working man in the area was the one in charge of the scoreboard. Centre-forward Morris gol three more goals, and Pat Gardner wrote his name all over this game with a nap-hand of

If clubs are more ably due to their curiosity as to whether the HKFA side could are able to withhold their playbeat South China's record 18 ers then it is surely better that scored earlier in the season.

LOST INTEREST

That this record still stands is not because the defence held out but it was rather that the winners, finding scoring so easy, lost interest ... except that they tried very hard to get Walmsley's name on the scoresheet for he had been instrumental in providing the chances for many of the goals that were scored.

Three minutes from the final whistle the Army left winger did get the ball in the net with a long shot ... but just as the ball crossed the line we saw that offside had been given against Morris who was in the goalmouth.

There is little that one can about the CAAF team

KITCHEE 2, SOUTH CHINA 4

A Big Game That Really Lived Up To Expectations

Here at last was a big game that really lived up to expectations. The 20,000 cheering fans who packed into Caroline Hill on Saturday got their money's worth of thrills and sensations and it stands to the credit of the 22 players and Referee Kearney that this pulsating and vital encounter never lagged in pace or in standard.

From first to last the speed of the play was tremendous. The game had all the trimmings of the big occasion and South China's victory was well and worthily won . . . although there was a time in the second half when it looked as though Kitchee might manage to save at least a point.

Fine Bowling By Fazal Mahmoud

Dacca, Jan. 2. India jost half their side for 115 in reply to Pakistan's first innings total of 257 on the second day of the First Test of the series here.

Fine bowling by Pakistan's pace bowlers had them in trouble early and four wickets were down for 56.

Then Umrigar, who is not out 24, and Ramchand (37), added 59 before Ramchand fell to Mahmoud Hussain just before the close.

Hussain took three for 50 and Khan Mohammed two for 30, but the outstanding display was that of Fazal Mahmoud though he did not take a wicket.

Pakistan, 207 for five over-

Civilian Subjects Planned For

Oslo, Jan. 2. :Courses in all kinds of purely civilian subjects are planned, starting this year, for young Norwegians doing their 16 months', compulsory military service. According to Defence Ministry proposals published recently, a number of fully qualified teachers are to be appointed to look after the recruits' higher education.

At the end of their recruit period the men will be able to take certain special examinations which, if not exactly corresponding to high school or college examinations, will at any rate provide recognised evidence of the education standard reached.

SCHOOLING PLAN

Now, with the new civilian schooling plan, some, at any rate, of this time will not be wasted from the point of view of their careers.

For practical reasons it is intended that most of the courses shall be organised by correspondence, although a definite number of hours in the working week will be allocated to the courses so that the new official schooling will not rob recruit's call-up, his educationthe men of their spare time.

brigade. In the Navy, a total of about 200 hours civilian schooling is proposed, and in the Air Force, about 220 hours.

The Defence Ministry's prosidered in Parliament, but it is expected that young Nor-wegians donning the King's uniform in 1955 will find that, spart from the necessary mili-tary and technical training, they will be able to continue their civilian education under the scheme, - China Special.

Water Will Hospital

Teheran, Jan. 2.

An Iranian multi-millionaire using American and British skills has built a hospital at Shiraz, in southern Persia, which is unique in the Middle East and probably in the world.

The hospital's upkeep will be paid for from water. The inspiration and the money came from Mr Mohammed

Nemazee, a native of Shiraz, who amassed a large fortune in China, Indo-China and India and has now returned home to spend it on public works. In 1952, he installed a fresh | water free under the terms of uq is American-designed and will

Pure water in plentiful and cheap supply to the poor people of Shiraz will reinforce the hospital's fight against illness and disease.

As Shirnz health standards fewer of the people will hospital treatment, perthe opening up of the institution more and more to the whole Persian Gulf area and Iran in general.
